April Fools!

You thought you weren't getting an April newsletter! Nope, just a little late!

News around The Highlands

We appreciate all the support and positive comments we've had over the years, but we've been doing the newsletter for 8 years now and we're ready to turn it over to someone else. This will be our last year and we're hoping someone will step up to take over. We'll give them the digital copies, if they want, and show them how we put the newsletter together in Microsoft Word, convert it to PDF, how many printed copies are needed, etc. Word isn't required, it's just easier for us to use. If we don't get any volunteers, the last newsletter will be October of 2025. You'll still receive the notes from Board meetings from the HOA secretary.

MEET YOUR NEIGHBOR

Helen Bressler and Bill Ward

Well, I guess I will highlight the two of us. We both grew up in Michigan; Bill from Detroit and Helen from Midland which is the headquarters for Dow Chemical Company (think Napalm/Agent Orange, silicone breast implants, and Bayer aspirin). They met at a summer camp for physically handicapped kids right after Bill graduated from Michigan State University and Helen from University of Michigan. Bill was a camp counselor and it was Helen's first job as a nurse. After five years of living in Michigan we decided to move to southern California. Helen found a job right away but Bill had a harder time. In order to go into his field of psychology, he had to have a master's degree.

He decided to let the Navy educate him in the world of technology. For the first 2 years he was in training and then spent the next 3 ¼ years in and out to sea. When he told Helen he could get shore duty if he extended for another year, she quickly pointed out that he could get shore duty permanently if he didn't re-enlist! Shore duty it was 😊

Navy life is hard. You just get used to having a life together and then you have to build another life being separated. Then you get used to that and it changes again. Not to mention the worries of being in a war zone.

But it paid off. After 7 years, Bill left the Navy and he was able to find good jobs. He did end up getting a master's degree, but it was in business instead of psychology. He was able to get into management with the degree but discovered that he enjoyed the technical side of things more than management. The job he retired from was with Canon where he was a consultant and instructor. He would go on calls with the salesmen to determine if the company could deliver what the customer wanted and teach the customer how to use the system once they got it.

Helen spent her first two years of nursing in the medical/surgical area to get a solid foundation. Then she went into home care for the next two years. From there she went into critical care, working in the various types of ICU and getting her certification as a critical care nurse. One of the nice things about nursing is that if you get burned out of one area you can always enter another area.

To get out of working nights, holidays, and week-ends, Helen then went into post anesthesia care. It is still considered critical care but with much better hours. At the suggestion of a fellow nurse who also taught nursing, Helen decided to give that a try. The hours were ideal and there was no 'on call' work. It took half of her career to find it, but Helen found her true calling as an instructor. She got her teaching credential and master's degree so she could teach both clinical rotations and didactics. She spent the last half of her forty years of nursing teaching the next generation of nurses. She retired right before COVID hit. What a blessing that was!

After retirement, we moved here to Roseburg to the Highlands. We knew we were going to retire in the pacific northwest and we had friends here so it was not a difficult decision. We immediately became involved with the community, volunteering for various jobs and committees and occasionally helping out with our computer and nursing skills.

We became RVers once we moved here and Helen belongs to the Oregon chapter of RVing women. We have been coming down to Arizona in the winter months for the last three years and will continue to do so for the foreseeable future. We live about a third of the way up the hill (343 Highland Vista Ln) and you probably know where, as we are heavily decorated for most holidays. Since we own the lot next to us, that is where we put most of our inflatables! 😊 Drop by and say 'hi' anytime!
